Capt. Miller, finding at one time late in the day, that it was impossible to gather his company together, called in men who were without officers, and made himself a very respectable command, while many of his men were lying bleeding and dying upon the ground.

Capt. Richardson and both of his Lieuten-nts, Fish and Johnson, were covered with severe fighting was wounded and compelled to retire.

At 11 o'clock the ambulances having been filled with our wounded, were moved to ward the city. The body of Gen. Lyon had been placed in one of them, but without being uncovered to one knew that the remains of the gallant her of Boouville and Camp Jackson were lying beneath that martial clock, and it was unfortmately removed to give place to those who were wounded. It was afterwards obtained, and after being laid out and dressed in a new uniform befitting his rank, I looked up on the paie ince of the dead. How long is America to be ruled by demagragues? When will our political leaders represent the people. In the name of the democratic, a once glorious party, I ask, do the committee lately assembled in Ohio and New

Montgomery's late cruise to the Sandwich Islands, and thence to Acapellco, he had neither seen nor heard of any pirates in the Pacific. The prevalence of caims and light winds would render salling vessels useless, and owing to the difficulty of processing coal stemmers will not be employed. He had now, at the time of wilting, received the form of the oath of allegiance to be taken by those connected with fine navy, but he had now, or the enthusiastic loyalty sums he had not of the cuthanisatic loyalty sums of collains of all of no board his alip (the Lannester) and had no fear that the honor of our flag would be impaired by a single exception.

A stremuous effort had been made by the Bank of Commerce to secure permission for the Secretary to issue demand notes, but a anajority of the members of the Committee—led by gentlemen whose hostility to the whole negotiation was marked—voted down the proposal. For many weeks the National Administration have been appealed to by Governor Yates to permit the organization of an army in Illinois sufficient to meet any force which might menace the southern border of the loyal States, and to prepare for offensive operations in the Missiaspip Valley. Since the battle of Bull Run and Manassas, the demands were renewed and pressed upon the War Department, without avail, however, until after the full of General Lyon. The next morning the Union men buried the secessionists that were left on the ground, and the rebuls are said to have carried off a number during the sight. The Union men captured 5 horses, 49 shot guns and rides, and a lot of hats, caps, &c., perforated with bullet holes and stained with blood, showing that many must have been wounded or killed. The Union forces then moved their camp at Fairmount, expecting an attack at that place, but have not been disturbed yet.

The rebels had one or two pieces of cannon in the engagement, but could not use them with much skill.

A messenger arrived to-day asking for sid. The Union men argresily in the minority, and may be attacked and overwhelmed at any time.

Iowa Second Megisment.

[From the Davenport Gazette.]

The information below in regard to the reorganization of the Second Iowa Regiment, las been furnished by Mr. J. C. Hensley, who obt-bined it from Mr. Shaffer, of Lyons, drum major of the regiment. We recurred a letter last evening from Capt. Littler under date of the 7th inst, who spoke of the probability of an election, but in such items as to leave the impression it would not take place for some time. Col. Tuttle, it is understood, has resigned his office. The following is said to have been the result of the election.

In the late o From a gestlicman of the highest respects hilly—who was an eye witness of the fight—we have the particulars of an engagement blien necessrate of an engagement blien necessrate of his fider al storn Island-res, between a National steam frigate, up-posed to be the Nagara, and the little Conedi-tate States privateer J. O. Nixon. The Nixon posed to be the Nasgara, and use little Consectate States privateer J. O. Nixon. The Nixon of the Nixon to avail hetaoff of the fair wind, left Praccagoula Bay has a roany moreaging the soling to go for Trakec hunking on the deep blue sea. What above twelve miles from Horn Island Pass, she discovered a large Federal steamer shead, attempting to cat her off. The Nixon tacked and stood in again for the Pass, and reached the bar about a mile shead of the Federalist. The Islater then opened fire on her at that distance, the Nixon Immediately responded, and the exchange of shots was carried on for about twenty mile uses. In the meantime the little lake steemer Arrow came up, and when within range of the Federalist. meantime the little lake stemmer Arrow came up, and when within range of the Foderalist, let slip some of her. Sa's at the Yankees. At the end of about twenty minutes from the fine the filing commenced the Federalist, with three of the Nixon's heavy pills in her buil, got up a big head of steam, and crowding on every inch of canyes she could use, and make register Manassas time seaward. Not the slightest injury was received by the Nixon or the steamer Arrow, but it is thought that the additional weight of those three blue which were lent to the Federalist by the Nixon may impede her progress to some extent. Mr. Scruurs, one of the most popular artists in the country, commences the season and plays a short engagement previous to his esparture for Europe, where he is to appear the Haymarket Theatre, London, in Octobera. Notwithstanding the success of the icces, in which he appeared on his previous latt, and which undoubtedly would draw fine outer again, he gives us something new, smalated by himself from the French, entice 6 Death, or the Angel of Midnight." It translated by himself from the French, entitied "Death, or the Angel of Midnight." It has altracted crowded houses during the last two weeks in Jiufilo, and is said to be replete with originality and startling situations, with a number of characters worthy of first class studes. The old melo-dramatic notion of death is banished, and prayer averts the finger of Pate, i. e., causes a miracle. In Paris the religious fundancy of the piece brought out

The undersigned, citizens of Chicago, certify that we are acquainted with Capt. Andrew H. Langholz, that from testimonials in his possession it appears that he has seen nine years active cavairy service in the Schleswig Holstein army and fought in the two campaigns of 1848 and 1840. From our acquaintance with Capt. Langholz and from the high testimonials which he brings from Europe, we feel assured that an opportunity is now offered to those who desire to enlist in the defence of their country, under an officer who understands his duty, both in the field and in the encampment, and whose character is a sufficient guaranty that he will faithfully perform it.
